Shapes have enjoyed over 25 years of successful trading in Scotland's capital city. Our company has grown to become one of Britain's largest specialists in high quality domestic and contract furniture made to the best traditional standards. Shapes started from a small workshop in the heart of Edinburgh's Old Town, quickly gaining a reputation for holding an interesting stock of soundly constructed cabinet furniture unavailable in the more established showrooms.

We have since expanded to an impressive showroom in Sighthill on the west side of the city with adequate parking facilities and easy access to the city bypass and other major routes. With workshops for furniture restoration, french polishing and upholstery as well as our antique auction department, we now occupy some 50,000 square feet bristling with beautiful furniture for discerning buyers. Our commitment to excellence in design and manufacture has remained constant as many of our original customers will testify, and whatever the prevailing business climate we maintain an uncompromising attitude towards better quality than our competitors, value for money and personal service. We invite all your enquiries and we hope to welcome you some day for a browse around our store and perhaps a light refreshment in our excellent restaurant. The following illustrations indicate a small selection only from our vast range of items on display.
